

Paula Westfield Manning Phillips
March 30, 1948-November 24, 1999

The Westfield Corporation is dedicated in memory and honor of Paula Westfield Manning Phillips. She gave unselfishly of herself and others.

Paula Westfield Manning Phillips wanted to ensure that communities had appropriate housing services for people in need. As the first African-American Director of the City of Houston Department of Housing and Community Development, she was able to improve living conditions of the urban poor.

Her career also included positions as the Director of the City of Austin Office of Neighborhood Revitalization and Executive Director for the Ohio City near West Development Corporation in Cleveland, Ohio.

Paula was also committed to the community and served on the boards of the Austin Rape Crisis Center, Centers For Battered Women, and the Coalition for the Homeless of Houston and Harris Counties.

"A Home Is A Key Life Foundation"

